In honor of Nurse's Week

Nurse's Week is May 6th and provides an exciting platform for healthcare leaders to show their nursing staff how much they are valued and the vital role they have in the quality of care and the success of the institution.

A prominently placed wall of honor with your nurses' names and credentials will inspire continued growth, while providing your patients and community a feeling of wellbeing and gratitude for the level of commitment your nurses demonstrate through their continued education. Recognition helps with Nurse Retention.

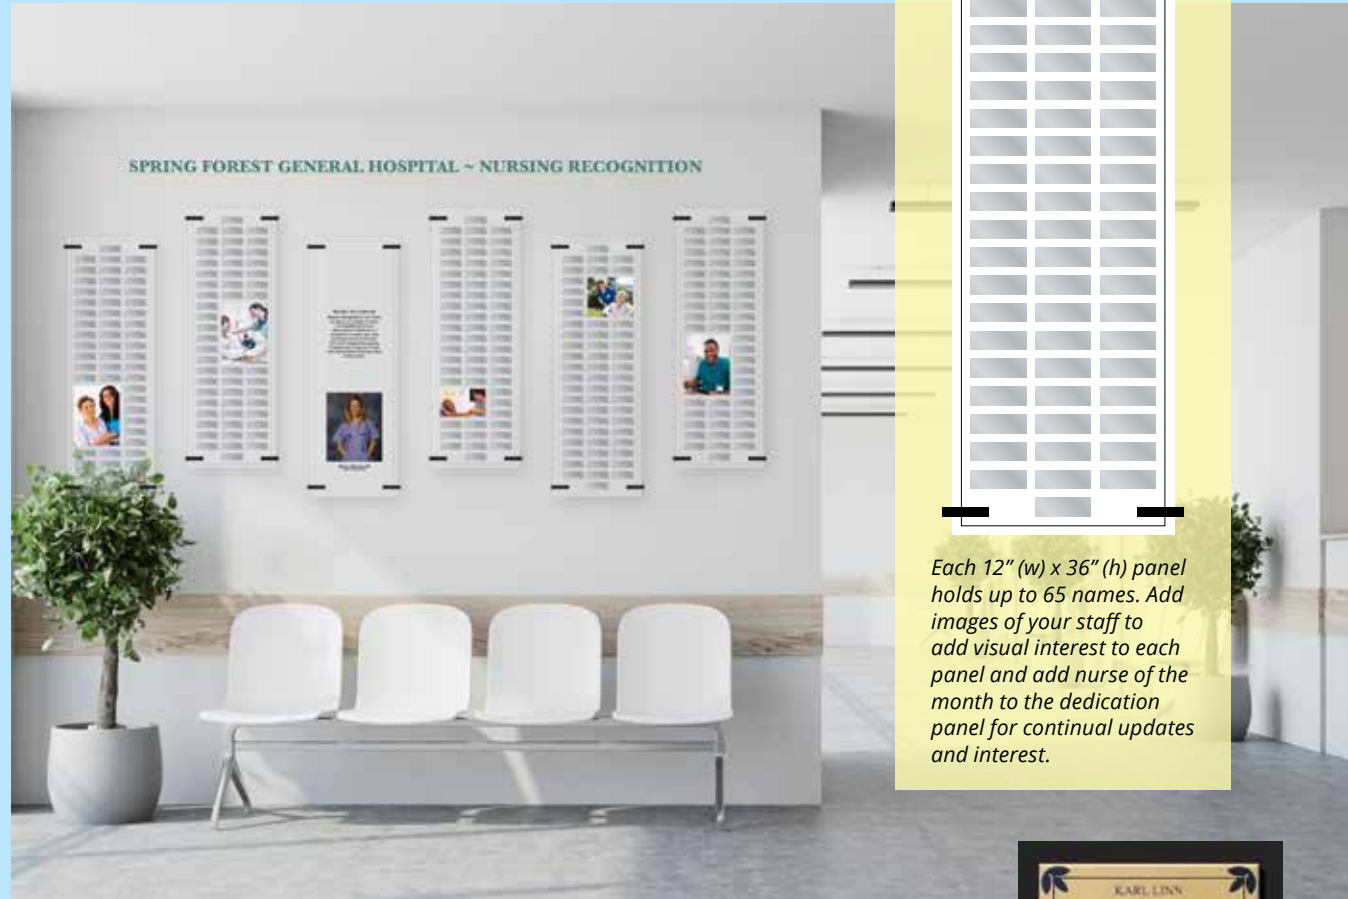

Nurses are patients primary contact from the moment they enter a healthcare facility, their ability to care, comfort and aid in healing are enhanced when they have support and acknowledgment of the healthcare system.
